SCREW CONVEYOR SEALED FOR 12 YEARS AND STILL GOING!

CASE STUDY

PROBLEM: A sludge conveyor at a Florida wastewater treatment plant experienced frequent ball-bearing replacements, causing substantial downtime and maintenance costs. Sludge penetration into the pressurized ball-bearing cases accelerated wear, leading to failure within nine months of each rebuild.

SOLUTION: SealRyt introduced a PackRyt® Bearing coupled with a redesigned housing featuring a pressurized air flush system. The PackRyt BLR, with minimal clearances, effectively seals the 4" shaft, preventing movement and eliminating sludge entry. The patented design, devoid of internal moving parts, ensures longevity. Installed in September 2012, the PackRyt® has run continuously without replacement or adjustment, showcasing SealRyt's expertise in crafting reliable shaft solutions.

INCREASE RELIABILITY IN:

- Screw Conveyors
- Slurry Pumps
- Sump Pumps
- Agitators

City of San Luis Obispo Streamlines Reporting & Response Times

May 30 at 12:00 PM CDT (10 AM PDT)

Contact ann.richmond@colepublishing.com with any questions

Description:

The City of San Luis Obispo treats about 1.75 billion gallons of water per year and serves around 47,545 customers with 14,800 metered connections.

Before centralizing their data into a single system, the city's lab juggled 31 paper bench sheets for entering, gathering, and analyzing their data.

Now, with automated operations and reporting, the lab has streamlined their processes to confidently meet regulatory requirements, improve customer outreach, and ensure water quality.

Register today to hear firsthand from the City of San Luis Obispo on how you can:

1. Streamline regulatory reporting & compliance
2. Reduce response times & unlock efficiencies
3. Optimize analysis & decision-making

Presented in partnership with Hach and Aquatic Informatics, join us to discover how you can streamline your operations—from field data collection to compliance reports, and every step in between.

Presenters:

TYRONE YAN

Technical Sales Engineer II, Aquatic Informatics

Tyrone is a seasoned Technical Sales Engineer who empowers municipalities including the City of San Luis Obispo by mitigating their water worries with data management solutions.

TANNER DUNCAN

Water Quality Analyst, City of San Luis Obispo

Tanner has been a Water Quality Laboratory Analyst with the City of San Luis Obispo for the last four years. Tanner's scientific background fueled his passion for integrating modern lab technology with data quality management to maximize workflow efficiency.
